Breaking Boundaries

with Donna Kallner

September 18-19, 2010

9 am to 4 pm

at the Textile Center in Minneapolis

If you feel like there's an invisible fence that keeps you thinking inside the box, now's the time to break out. In this workshop, guided exercises and creativity catalysts build your fluency with design concepts that invite viewers into scenes you create with your fiber art. You'll learn about the picture plane and how to bend it to your will. You'll practice techniques for adding actual and perceived dimension to image elements, ways to use layers, sheers and shadows, and making frames that not only finish the edges but add to the story. Class time will be spent working on a series of small-scale two-dimensional pieces – jewelry, inchies, ATCs, small embroideries or mini art quilts – but ideas can be adapted to larger quilts, wearable art and even three-dimensional pieces. If you have any questions, please contact me by September 13 at donnakallnerwi [at] gmail [dot] com or phone (715) 882-2822.
